CLARENDON TOWN BOARD—Meeting Highlights January 2016

OPEN END

Councilman Major stated that Cemetery Administrator Melissa Ierlan has asked that a portion of Hillside Cemetery be set aside for burials of military persons and their spouses, as is done in the Albion Cemetery; thinking a portion of land toward the water tower would be best.

County Legislator John DeFilipps informed that County Real Property has decided to do the pictometry flyover in March; when there are no leaves on the trees. High school students, Shayna Swisher and Sienna Steier were welcomed to the meeting.

HIGHWAY/WATER DEPARTMENT

Superintendent Larry Swanger reported being busy plowing snow the past couple of weeks. Connection to Water Improvement Benefit Area No. 11 has slowed down; over half the homes in the district are hooked in now.

PLANNING BOARD

Chairman Dave Griggs stated no meetings were held in January; nothing to report.

HISTORIAN/HISTORICAL SOCIETY

We are busy working on getting things in order for the grant as far as obtaining the paperwork needed to advertise and seek bids for the Roof and Windows of the chapel first. I have completed the paperwork and mailed in the application for the town to be set up in the Grants Gateway contracting system. I will be doing a program for the after-school friends at Holley Elementary on Wednesday. The topic is games played during colonial times and before video games! Judy Jensen has graciously provided me with a large variety of games and puzzles to present. I imagine it will be a surprise for the kids to see things that can be done without the use of technology! I assisted the Holley humanities class in photographing families for holiday portraits. They offered to email the photos to families or provide them with a free print. I was one of the two photographers and edited my photos. The students did not charge money rather they asked for non perishable donations or new toys to take to the community center. It was well attended for the first time and they hope to do it again next year. I still have a couple of Holley students helping me with some projects. I am planning two new exhibits for the Historical Society Museum next year. The CHS is finalizing our list of speakers for the upcoming year. We are still meeting every third Wednesday at 7pm. We have obtained permission to use the High School Auditorium on May 30th for a screening of movies made in the 70's and early 80's by Holley native Raymond Santoro. This features many locals who played parts and it will serve as a fund raiser for the Hillside Chapel as well. Our Akeley monument is at the engraver still being worked on at this time. The memorial bricks for the walkway have been purchased and are now at Brigden Memorials to be etched this winter with the names of the people who made donations of $100 or more. I am currently working on re-painting three more historical markers and will be looking for more in a month or so. I have a meeting with a potential Eagle Scout to discuss the project he would like to do in the Veterans Section of the cemetery this spring. I am finalizing the application for a grant from the Pomeroy Foundation to place a Historical Marker at Hillside Cemetery to honor Charles Herbert Taylor, only resident of Orleans County to be killed at the battle of Gettysburg in 1863. This work was mostly coordinated and done by Tim Archer a Social Studies teacher for Albion Schools and his 7th grade class. The grant can be submitted in February and we will know by April if we have been chosen. Likely we will hold a ceremony on a Saturday to unveil it.

I took the opportunity to attend and join the Orleans County Genealogical Society at their meeting on January 10th. This group meets monthly to serve as assistants to those doing research. They now meet in the Hoag library and have access to computers and other materials. They are looking to make people aware of their existence should they wish to join or they need help.

A public hearing was also scheduled to consider amendments of the same to the Town Zoning Ordinance Section 301. (See Notice on Page 1 of this Gazette).

NEW BUSINESS

TID BITS

Geary (Moose) Shenck

GREETINGS ALL! Wow. A month has come and gone in the year already. So, here's my first Tid Bits of the year. A young couple began to long for the pitter-patter of little feet so they bought a small dog. It's cheaper and they got more feet. Why do dogs always race to the door when the doorbell rings? It's hardly ever for them. A Canadian psychologist is selling a video that teaches you how to test your dog's I.Q. Here's how it works. If you spent twelve ninety-nine for the video, your dog is smarter than you. We can complain because rose bushes have thorns or rejoice because thorn bushes have roses. I have noticed that even people, who claim everything is predetermined and that we can do nothing to change it, look both ways before they cross the road. There are some who start their retirement long before they stop working. Farmer picks up an American Indian hitch hiking. The Indian is a man of few words, but notices a brown bag between them and asks, "What's in the bag?" The farmer says "It's a bottle of wine that I got for my wife." The Indian says, "Good trade." Sharks aren't so bad. If a stranger entered my house wearing only a speedo, I would probably attack him too. Does it have apples in it? No. What about pine? No pine either. Perfect, we'll call it a pineapple. "Have you any kittens going cheap?" asked a customer in a pet shop. "No sir" replied the owner, "our kittens all go meow." Women say "chocolate, coffee and men are just better rich. Perks of being over seventy: 1) Kidnappers are not very interested in you; 2) In a hostage situation you are likely to be released first; 3) No one expects you to run ... anywhere; 4) There is nothing left to learn the hard way; 5) Your supply of brain cells is finally down to manageable size. And remember; don't ever take a sleeping pill and a laxative on the same night.

THIS MONTH'S RIDDLES:

1. The man who made it doesn't want it. The man who bought it doesn't need it. The man who needs it doesn't know it. What is it?
2. What is the difference between a hippo and a zippo?
3. What is the difference between ignorance and apathy?
4. Why is it so hard to punish a vampire?
5. Why wouldn't the cleaning lady operate the computer?

A garden party for charity featured games of chance. Two morons were among the guests "I took a five dollar bill and took a chance for charity" said one. And a pretty blonde gave me a kiss for buying it." He looked cautiously around, then added, "I hate to say it, but she kisses better than my wife." The other moron immediately took a five dollar bill from his wallet, left and a short time later, re-appeared. Did she kiss good?" inquired the first moron. "Swell" admitted the other, "but not better than your wife." A man said his wife is so absent-minded. "The other day when she boiled some water to make tea, she put the kettle on the armchair and sat on the stove. We didn't know she was getting hot until she started singing." One day a little girl questioned her mother. "Mama, do all Fairy Tales begin with Once Upon a Time?" "No my dear" replied her mother. "Sometimes they begin with, "Honey, I was detained at the office."

A string of fish swung lazily in the stream next to the boy on the bank as the game warden stopped by. "Catch anything son?" he asked. "Nope" said the boy. "How about those fish on the string?" "Oh. I had to tie them up to keep them out of my bait can." A moron came into a bar and asked the bartender for a drink then started yelling yeah, yeah. Then five more morons came in and started to do the same thing. Then three more friends came in and one of them had a Barney puzzle. All of them going, yeah, yeah, yeah. Bartender asked one of them, "Why all the celebrating?" The one responded, "We did this puzzle in three hours and it says two to three years. A lady wasn't feeling well, so she went to the doctor. Doctor asked if she ever had Chicken Pox. Her reply, "No, but I have had chicken nuggets". Wife: What are you doing? Husband: Nothing. Wife: Nothing? You've been reading our marriage certificate for an hour. Husband: I was looking for the expiration date. Remember, the more you weigh, the harder you are to kidnap. Stay safe, eat cake! Be careful when you follow the masses. Sometimes the 'm' is silent. An Eskimo sat in his igloo reading a Shirley Temple fairy tale collection to his little boy. Little Jack Horner sat in a corner began the father when the son interrupted him to inquire, "Daddy, what's a corner?" I've just had an operation for piles. All my troubles are behind me. Is that a beard or are you eating a muskrat? Your grandma says your new boyfriend isn't conventionally handsome. What she means is, his dog probably closes his eyes when he's being petted. I didn't say you were too heavy. All I said was I wouldn't get in an elevator with you unless I wanted to go down. We probably all know someone who is as useful as a pogo stick in quicksand.

Do It Now by Berton Braley

If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing
If you like him or love him, tell him now
Don't withhold your approbation 'til the parson makes oration
And he lies with snowy lilies on his brow
No matter how you shout it he won't really care about it
He won't know how many teardrops you have shed
If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead
More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend
For it gives to life a savor and it makes you stronger, braver
And it gives you heart and spirit to the end
If he earns your praise, bestow it
If you like him, let him know it
Let the words of true encouragement be said
Do not wait 'til life is over and he's underneath the clover
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead

That's it folks! Have a great month.

Adios and God Bless, Geary (Moose) Shenck

Hillside Sketches

The Pratt family chose a burial lot on the Highest ground of Hillside for their final resting place. To further distinguish the Site there are granite corner markers which support an iron railing. A tall columnar marker carries the family name.

Joseph Pratt (1802-1881) purchased the monument before his death for more than $1000, a hefty sum in the late 1800's. He was born in Massachusetts, moved to Jefferson County, NY when a child and then to the Town of Sweden. Joseph purchased his land on what is now called Bennetts Corners Road in 1829. In time, he built two houses as well as some barns on his land. He had learned the trade of surveying while in Sweden and continued that profession as well as being a farmer. He also was an assessor and served as justice of the peace from 1847-1856. His first wife was Alinda Howard but she died in 1849. In 1851 he married a widow, Chloe Walker Hill, whose husband, Horace B. Hill, had recently died. Chloe was one of the step daughters of Chauncey Robinson, one of Clarendon's most prominent citizens. Chloe outlived Joseph, passing away in 1900. When Chloe died, newspapers called her one of Clarendon's oldest and most highly respected women. It was also reported that she was one of the wealthiest women in the county. There are grave stones for both the previous spouses, Alinda and Horace, even though their deaths predate Hillside Cemetery. It is likely their bodies were moved from other places. Also on the lot is Joseph C. Walker, Chloe's brother, who died in 1898.

DEC DELIVERS

 PRESS RELEASE *****

NEW YORK
STATE OF OPPORTUNITY

Department of Environmental Conservation

To improve public awareness about ideas being considered for future hunting rule changes, DEC has created a new webpage (Public Input on Hunting Regulations) (<http://www.dec.ny.gov/outdoor/104785.html>). To kick this off, we invite feedback on a couple of ideas related to deer and bear hunting in 2016: (1) allowing junior hunters to take bears during the Youth Firearms Deer Hunt, (2) reducing antlerless harvest in WMUs 6F and 6J, and (3) rescinding the antlerless-only requirement during portions of the bow and muzzleloader season in a handful of Southern Zone WMUs. These ideas are not formal proposals at this time, just options being considered as potential changes for the 2016-17 season. Please see Public Input on Hunting Regulations to read more about the ideas and to provide feedback. Also, many hunters are aware that DEC has been engaged in a process to determine the best path forward for reducing harvest of young bucks, including possible expansion of mandatory antler point restrictions. We will be meeting with leaders of NY hunting organizations and other interested groups in early February to discuss the outcome of this process and our intended next steps. We will provide the information broadly to hunters thereafter, and will invite feedback on this issue at that time. In the meantime, much information about the decision process considered is available at DEC's Buck Harvest Management (<http://www.dec.ny.gov/outdoor/27663.html>) webpage.

“OFF THE GRID”

On Wednesday January 20, 2016 the Holley After School Friends, led by Jean Smith went off the grid with the Clarendon Historian. For the last several years, the Clarendon Historian has met with the group to give them a history lesson of sorts. The group meets at the Elementary School as part of the FIT4U! program funded by the PEP grant received in 2014. The topic was colonial games and children’s games of the 19th century. The games were provided by Clarendon resident Judy Jensen who once worked at the Genesee Country Museum and used them as part of her program. The children in the group were given a short history on each game and then they all joined in to play. Jean Smith who runs the group asked the children to introduce themselves and tell the historian one fact about them. At the end of the presentation, she then asked each one what was their favorite toy or game. They were then questioned about whether or not they could give up their PlayStation, Xbox etc. for one of the very low tech/no tech games they tried out and most said “YES”! One of them thought they could not live without Minecraft but still insisted that the games were fun. It was a new way to get the children up and moving. It also allowed them to problem solve and interact with each other.

I have been very lucky the past several years to have students who are eager to help with projects dealing with the history of Clarendon. This past summer I had the pleasure of working with Jessie Brockway who is a student at Spencerport Central Schools. Her mother is a Holley graduate and her grandparents live in Clarendon.

She was very interested in doing something that involved research on past residents of Clarendon and in particular ones that were buried in one of our historical cemeteries. The Christian Graveyard on Hibbard Road (aka The Pettengill Cemetery) contains two individuals Jessie has written about.

Jessie's volunteerism doesn't end there however, she is assisting me on another project and I will feature it in one of the upcoming Clarendon Gazette issues. Thank You to Jessie and to her VERY supportive mother for helping preserve some of our local history. You make me proud!

Jacob Oman Biography

Born on December 29th, 1784 in Onondaga, New York, Jacob Oman lived a full life. He was the sixth child to parents George Jurrjie Oman and Maria Oman (néé Mack). Oman settled in Millard Place, Clarendon in 1814, when the region was still mostly wilderness. Prior to his settlement, Jacob Oman served in the War of 1812 and stood seven drafts. He was a man who not only served his country, but was also a great hunter. He was a deer hunter, bear hunter, and fisherman. In 1823, it is recorded that he shot one of the largest bears of the area. In fact, it was so big that the end board of his wagon had to be removed in order to fit the beast. In all of his great adventures, Oman also managed to have a family. He married Amelia Begole, who was from Maryland, on October 11th, 1806 and had 11 children spanning over the years of 1808 to 1826. Jacob Oman, Jr. was the eldest, and went on to make a name for himself in the history of Clarendon. In 1823, Jacob Oman, Sr. planted an orchard of apple trees for each member of his family at the time. Jacob Oman died on October 22nd, 1868, and is buried at the Pettingill Cemetery. He is beside his wife, who passed three years after he did in 1871.

Some Clarendon History

Jessie Brockway

Elisha Farwell Biography

Elisha Farwell was born on October 1st, 1814 to parents Judge Eldredge Farwell and Polly Farwell (néé Richardson). He was the seventh child, but the first to be born in Clarendon, which was not yet recognized as a town. His parents had arrived to the area in 1811 and set up a saw-mill. The town came to be known as Farwell's Mills. When Elisha became old enough, he followed in his older brothers', George W. and Eldredge, Jr., footsteps and began carrying mail on horseback to and from Byron Center. This was previous to the completion of the Erie Canal, which occurred in 1825. The stages of Elisha's route were between Rochester and Buffalo.

Elisha Farwell became a father in 1842. This was the year that his wife Sarah A. Farwell (néé Goddard) gave birth to their son, Eldridge L. Farwell. His next child, a daughter, was named Mary L. Farwell. She survived only a few days after her birth. However, Elisha and Sarah adopted a girl a year after their first was born. Interestingly enough, they also named her Mary L. Farwell. The couple's last child was another daughter in 1857. Her name was Clara Farwell. In both 1861 and 1864, Elisha Farwell was a Trustee of the Universalist Church. This church was erected in 1832, which was 18 years after Elisha was born. His father and many of his brothers had also been Trustees throughout the 1850's, 1860's, and 1870's. Elisha Farwell died on April 27th, 1896 in Clarendon. His wife, Sarah, had died five years earlier in 1891, and they are both buried in Pettingill Cemetery.

HCS D Holley Central School District Soaring to Success

HOLLEY FIRST AND SECOND GRADERS LEARN ABOUT HEALTHY CHOICES

In December, Karen Blank, from The Whole Approach studio, led Holley Elementary Students in first and second grades through a workshop entitled “Healthy Snack Cooking & Games.” She met with 24 students after school twice a week and taught them about nutrition, games to stay active, how to make their own healthy snacks and how to make healthy living choices. The students were joined by their parents for the final workshop on the evening of Dec. 17, where they set the table together and prepared a healthy dinner of homemade ravioli and salad.

Blank's workshops were offered free to Holley Central School District (HCS D) students as part of the three-year Carol M. White Physical Education Program (PEP) grant the district received last year. HCS D regularly offers before and after school programs to grades K-12 students as part of its FIT4U! program, made possible by the PEP grant. The FIT4U! program focuses on teaching students about fitness and nutrition through a variety of activities and educational programs.

Students took pre- and post-tests evaluating how much they knew about healthy choices at the start and conclusion of the workshop. Their knowledge of healthy behaviors increased from 61 percent to 99 percent.
