HILL TALK

“I Dream Of Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair”

I guess that dreams about escaping the responsibilities of our present existence hit all of us at one time or another and I'm no exception. Providing for a large family with a limited income resulted in my needing two jobs while still attending night school. The mortgage payments, doctor bills, school clothes, and keeping a car on the road all added to the pressures of daily living. Even with my wonderful wife and family, could I be blamed for trying to practice the fine art of escapism?

A new position put me in contact with people all around the country as I set up dye shops, trained dyers, and did troubleshooting when problems arose. I must admit that I was getting a little heady with this new station of importance. Those emotions made me the perfect “patsy” for what was about to happen.

There was this “Georgia Peach” that I talked with on the phone. I called her that because she had the softest, sexiest, southern drawl that I had ever heard and my mental image of her went right along with that. Her name, Jean Vanadore, only accented that image. Can you imagine my excitement when Jean announced that she would be flying up and spending the day to see our dye shop? Of course I would be required to take her out to dinner!

As the days went by I talked to my dyers about watching their language during the visit and had them remove pinups and anything else from the walls that might intrude on the sensibilities of our guest. I prepared my wife so she would understand that taking Jean out for dinner was actually a business meeting that I was forced to do.

Perhaps I was acting somewhat foolish and had gone a little overboard with this visit. The word had gotten out that this was a big deal for me and because the receptionist and my wife talked quite often on the phone, she agreed to share what this woman was like when she finally arrived.

At last the day came and I was impeccably dressed for the occasion. When the receptionist called to say that my visitor had arrived, I brushed aside the feeling that something in her voice was off a little. I stopped at the men's room on the way down and surveyed my image in the mirror. Satisfied, I went out into the reception area and looked for my visitor.

Not seeing her there I started over to the receptionist when a soft sweet voice asked, “Are you looking for me?” The voice came from a short, thin, wisp of a man who looked exactly like the bald mad scientist in some of my childhood comic books. I had met the fabulous Gene Vanadore! My disappointment didn't end there. Gene had ulcers and couldn't go out to dinner so I didn't even get a free steak dinner out of it!

Although I ended up disillusioned, my wife and quite a few others got much enjoyment over this happening. One of the more humbling things that came out of this visit was hearing people hum, “I Dream of Jeanie with the light brown hair” when I walked through the dye shop for the next few months.

May 21, 2014 was our Celebration for Carl Akeley's 150th Birthday at the Clarendon Fire Company Recreation Hall. This event was attended by over 150 people. The Clarendon Historical Society arranged for speakers and had refreshments.

Jay Kirk, author of Kingdom Under Glass read from his book, John Janelli a taxidermy historian from New Jersey gave a presentation and played a short film that was condensed from about 40 hours of film. It showed the process one would go through to mount and make a diorama. Mike Oropallo a partner in a Syracuse Law Firm, Hiscock & Barclay and contributor to Breakthrough Magazine was on hand to present the Historical Society with a letter written by the Blomquists (publishers of Breakthrough Magazine) along with the Carl Akeley medallion featuring Carl Akeley on one side at age 19 and Jumbo the elephant on the other. This is given out each year to the top taxidermists in each category that enter a world competition. A list of all the names that have received this medallion since its beginning was also presented.

John Janelli also presented the president of the historical society, Melissa Ierlan with a copy of one of Akeley's death masks from a gorilla named "the Old Man of Mikeno" given by The Conservation Force and John J. Jackson III.

This was a wonderful evening and the amount of people who came out in honor of Carl Akeley was overwhelming. There is still such pride about this young man from Clarendon who worked tirelessly his entire life to make sure that people would know about the animals he thought would be extinct one day. The contributions he made in his lifetime are still well known since his death in November 1926.

CREATING A CLIMATE ACTION PLAN FOR THE TOWN OF CLARENDON

Hello residents of Clarendon,

My name is Greg Selke. I am currently a graduate student finishing my Masters in Professional Studies degree in Environmental Policy and Democratic Processes at The SUNY college of Environmental Science and Forestry in Syracuse. I also graduated from college just down the road from Clarendon at the College at Brockport in 2012 with a Bachelor's degree in Environmental Science.

Over the past century we have seen a dramatic increase in global temperatures as a result of the emission of greenhouse gases from burning fossil fuels. According to NASA, the 2000s was the warmest decade on record. 2012 was the warmest year on record in the U.S. according to NOAA. If left unchecked, the temperature will continue to rise 0.5 degrees every decade. The threat of climate change is very real, and we are even feeling its extreme effects today. It is because of this that the town has agreed to bring me in as an intern to draft a Climate Action Plan for the Town of Clarendon.

A Climate Action Plan is a blueprint for the future. It is designed to assist local governments in identifying emissions reduction projects and policies to implement their own climate and air pollution reduction goals. This summer, I will be working hard to find ways to help both the town government and the citizens of Clarendon to reduce their energy usage and reduce their greenhouse gas emissions and turn the tide on climate change, so that someday our children and grandchildren can have a planet to live on and be proud of. The Town of Clarendon will join 130 other towns, counties, and other municipalities in New York State to enact a climate action plan and take a stand on climate change.

It will take a team effort and all ideas are on the table, including everything from switching to CFL light bulbs to constructing solar and wind power stations and facilities. With everyone's help, Clarendon will have a much smaller carbon footprint, and you will have more money in your wallet. I look forward to working with everyone this summer.

ANNUAL SENIOR CITIZEN APPRECIATION BREAKFAST A BIG SUCCESS IN HOLLEY

More than 130 senior citizens from Holley turned out to enjoy the ninth annual Senior Citizen Appreciation Breakfast at the Holley Elementary School on Thursday, May 1. The Holley Central School District hosts the event each year as a way to recognize the significant contributions area senior citizens make to the community and in support of Holley schools. The breakfast menu was prepared and provided by the district's food service vendor, Personal Touch. High school seniors greeted guests, served coffee and presented each with a long stem rose. For entertainment, kindergarten and high school music students performed.

Holley junior Madison Pritchard, center, pours coffee for guests at this year's annual Senior Citizen appreciation breakfast.

The Orleans County Youth Board held its 32nd Annual Youth Recognition Banquet on Thursday, May 8, 2014.

YOUTH RECOGNITION AWARD -

Several awards are presented annually to young people who have performed an outstanding service for their community, and/or have assumed an extraordinary role within their family.

TID BITS

Geary (Moose) Shenck

GREETINGS to one and all of you faithful readers of intellectual nonsense! Well, here I am again with pen in hand, scratching my head, pulling my hair, trying to write some lines that I hope will bring a smile to your faces. I think I still have a full deck; I just shuffle slower now. A redneck came running into the bar and said to his buddy, "Bubba, somebody just stole your pickup truck from the parking lot." Bubba asked, "Did you see who it was?" The redneck answered, "I couldn't tell, but I got the license number." I enjoy a glass of wine each night for its health benefits. The other glasses are for my witty comebacks and flawless dance moves. We never really grow up; we only learn how to act in public. My level of maturity depends on who I'm with. You know that tingly little feeling you get when you really like someone? That's common sense leaving your body. The bride was escorted down the aisle and when she reached the altar, the groom was standing there with his golf bag and clubs at his side. She asked, "What are your golf clubs doing here?" He looked her right in the eye and said, "This isn't going to take all day is it?" Never give yourself a haircut after drinking.

Some crazy stuff old people say: As you go through life, take a moment every now and then to think about others, because there's every chance they could be plotting something. Anything is possible except maybe skiing through a revolving door. If you're riding a bike down hill, always remember to turn your head before you spit. The only substitute for good manners is fast reflexes. A bird in the hand is safer than one overhead. Never hit a man with glasses; hit him with something bigger and heavier. When you're arguing with an idiot, try to make sure he isn't doing the same thing. "Getting old is no fun. I used to wake up feeling like a million bucks. Now I feel more like a bounced check." Men say women should come with a book of instructions. What's the point of that? Have you ever seen a man actually read the instructions? Confucius say it's OK to kiss a fool, but don't let a kiss fool you.

THIS MONTH'S RIDDLES

1. What can run but never walks, has a mouth but never talks, has a head but never weeps, has a bed but never sleeps?
2. What school do you go to, to learn to greet people?
3. What did Benjamin Franklin say when he discovered electricity?
4. Why do they call the new dance the elevator?
5. Why did the chicken go out in the raging storm?

After an operation, a man regained consciousness in his hospital room and seen the shades were drawn. He summoned enough strength to ask the doctor the reason "There's a fire across the street" explained the doctor, "and I pulled down the shades for fear that if you saw the flames, you'd think that the operation was a failure. A lawyer came in to see a new client. He introduced himself as follows: "I represent Button, Button, Button, Button and Button. My name is Zipper. I replaced one of the Buttons.

One day a little girl asked her mother, "Mama, do all fairy tales begin with Once Upon a Time?" "No my dear" replied her mother, "sometimes they begin with, Honey I was detained at the office." On Mother's Day a husband said to his wife, "Don't worry about the dishes Honey. You'll find time for them tomorrow." The reason cowboy hats are turned up on the sides is so that three people can fit in the pickup. A man, shocked by how his buddy is dressed, asks him, "How long have you been wearing that bra?" The friend replies, "Ever since my wife found it in the glove compartment." It's important to have a good vocabulary. If I had known the difference between the words antidote and anecdote, one of my good friends would still be living. I have a fear of speed bumps, but I'm slowly getting over it. In the beginning, God created chocolate and he saw that it was good. Then he separated the light from the dark and it was even better. "I've been dieting for a month now" said a husband. Wife: "Oh really? How much have you lost?" Husband: "Thirty days."

Some Redneck Bumper Stickers: Work is for people who don't know how to fish. Gun Control: Use both hands. Keep honking, I'm reloading. This isn't a real bumper sticker; it's what is holding my car together. Remember, grief can take care of itself: but to get full value of joy, you must have someone to share it with.

On Happiness: Happiness is a way-station between too much and too little. Happiness is like jam; you can't spread even a little without getting some on yourself. Happiness is being too sick to go to school, but not too sick to watch television. For every minute you are angry, you lose sixty seconds of Happiness. Happiness is having a scratch for every itch. Happiness is like potato salad; when shared with others, it's a picnic.

There was a parish priest who told his congregation, "Next Sunday I propose to give a sermon about liars. I suggest that before then, you all read chapter seventeen of St. Marks". Came the following Sunday and the priest began, "Will all those who obliged me by reading chapter seventeen of St. Marks please raise their right hand." Every right hand in the congregation shot up. Observed the priest, "There happens to be only sixteen chapters in St. Marks. I will now deliver my sermon on liars." A lady patient descended upon a dentist office for the fifth time to command him to grind down her false teeth again. "I tell you they don't fit" she insisted. "Okay" said the dentist reluctantly, "I'll do it one last time, but by every test, they should fit your mouth perfectly as they are." "Who said anything about my mouth?" snapped the lady. "They don't fit in the glass." A lady said to her friend, "I've finally cured my husband of biting his nails." "Land sakes" said her friend, "How did you do that?" She replied, "I hide his teeth."

A woman from under the handsomely decorated Christmas tree called to her husband. "You sure made a prize fool of yourself tonight. It's a good thing those people don't realize you were sober." A newlywed young man was asked how his young wife cooked. He said, "Tell me. How can anyone burn lemonade?" The daughter of a country auctioneer dazzled a city slicker. She would smile, wink and nod to him and he would smile, wink and nod back. After the auction, he discovered he had purchased a pair of mules, a churn and an electric milking machine.

PRICELESS TREASURES

by Doris A. Orth

In all our lives there are treasures
More precious than silver or gold
And none of these priceless treasures
Can ever be bought or sold.
The beauty that surrounds us all
Along life's thoroughfare
Are treasured gifts given by God
For everyone to share.
The sound of children's laughter
And good and faithful friends
Are treasurers we shall cherish
'til life's journey ends
Love for our children and their love for us
Is more precious than silver or gold
For our love is everlasting
And can never be bought or sold.

That's it folks. Have a great month!

*Adios & God Bless,
Geary 'Moose' Shenck*

CLARENDON TOWN BOARD MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

MAY 2014

Prior to the regular meeting, representatives from the Monroe County Water Authority (MCWA) presented information about their not for profit public benefit corporation, which is not part of the Monroe County government. Supervisor Moy acknowledged that Water District No. 2 main line is 20 years old; that NYS will not allow the town to save enough money to replace the line when it needs to. Currently the town has a wholesale agreement with MCWA and is responsible for everything in the water districts except for putting water in the pipes. If the town opted for a retail lease agreement, the town would be responsible for new distribution mains on roads without water (at MCWA specifications) and any existing debt service. MCWA would handle replacements and system improvements; distribution maintenance and repairs; billing/customer service; new service installations, water quality and testing and public fire hydrants. The MCWA has 3200 miles of pipeline and is the third largest in the state. They use a GPS system for leak detection and locating breaks. Supervisor Moy exemplified that if MCWA takes over the system, the debt service charge in WD#5 would decrease from $294.00/year to $181.00/year; savings would be seen in personnel salaries of superintendent, billing clerk and collection clerk. All retail leases with MCWA are for 40 years. In regard to existing wells on properties that are hooked into the public water system, MCWA offered that the well would need to be abandoned with a concrete cap per NYSDEC regulations or would need a backflow preventer and a Health Department annual inspection of the well.

OPEN END

An unidentified citizen requested the Board look to have the speed limit reduced from the Holley/Clarendon line south on NYS Route 237 to the top of the hill by the water tower. Supervisor Moy explained that the speed limit there was lowered by the State from 55 mph to 50 mph just a few years ago; that residents had requested 45 mph.

Pat Giglio informed that the Jewell Buckman Post Ladies Auxiliary will hold a fundraiser breakfast brunch on June 8th from 11 to 12.

Councilman Robinson spoke on behalf of family members and friends that live on South Holley Road and asked if semi tractor trailer trucks can be limited on that road. South Holley Road is a county road. County Legislator DeFilipps informed of a similar discussion at the county today; that he will bring it up to the committee.

- The Planning Board continued its review of an ongoing drainage issue at 16924 Fourth Section Road. All affected parties were present for the meeting (Howe, Gomez, McFarland, Oliver, Swartswelder) along with Katie Sommerfeldt, Orleans County Soil and Water. Ms Sommerfeldt presented to the group the four options she has developed based on her survey of the properties. The group agreed to Option C- Installing a 4" underground tile line with a stand pipe at the end traveling from the Gomez property across three adjoining properties (Howe, Swartswelder, Oliver) for approx 600' and draining into an existing drainage ditch at the rear of the Oliver property. Mr. Oliver, Mrs. Swartswelder, and Mr. Howe each stated for the record that they are willing to allow access for this tile originating at the Gomez property to pass on their respective properties. Mr. Howe and Mr. Gomez will share responsibility of the cost. Katie Sommerfeldt has agreed to come back and lay out the project and verify elevations when it is ready to begin. The Planning Board will contact the Town attorney regarding easements/ waivers etc. Chairman Griggs takes the opportunity to tell all parties concerned how pleased he is with their spirit of community cooperation and work on helping to resolve this issue.

HIGHWAY/WATER DEPARTMENT REPORT

Larry Swanger, Superintendent

Superintendent Swanger reported picking up some of the large piles of brush along the roadsides. Gravel roads have been graded and need work. Lawns have been cleaned up due to the plowing. The Highway crew repaired a damaged culver pipe on County Line Road. Pot holes have been patched; Superintendent informed that over fifty ton of patching material since January has been used on the roads. There were four burials in the cemetery last month. A water line in the cemetery is leaking and needs replacement. There are currently four spigots. Superintendent suggested a new line be installed from the garage to the chapel and the ones on the old side be abandoned.

The county helped with trees with its bucket truck. Superintendent Swanger reported swapping out the loader for a new CAT for less than $3400. We've had the loader a little over a year; will be on state bid for another year, so the charge is $10/hours used to trade it in; loader has 173 hours on it. New machine is coming in at the end of June.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY REPORT

Melissa Ierlan, President and Town Historian

President Ierlan reported twenty-seven people in attendance at the Society's first meeting of the year; there are 36 paid memberships. Erin Anheier helped clean the museum buildings for Sunday Open-Houses. Superintendent Swanger replaced the water meter in the schoolhouse and the Society has asked for a damage estimate on the schoolhouse.

Historian Ierlan showed framed letters to Eldridge Farwell and receipts from Copeland's Store purchased from New Hampshire. Joanne Major helped Historian Ierlan repaint all the historical markers; the Highway Crew and Fred Seeman helped remove and reinstall the signs.

OLD BUSINESS

The Town Board approved the Out-of-District User Application for hookup in Water Improvement Benefit Area 11 from Town of Sweden resident Jason Misner at 4600 County Line Road.

No plans have been submitted yet for reconfiguring the offices at the town hall. Superintendent Swanger felt his truck does not need an emergency management license plate; the Fire Company always lets him through when there is an emergency situation.

NEW BUSINESS

The Town Board accepted an estimate from James Ellison, East Lee Road resident, to paint exterior trim of Town Hall, replace broken trim boards, stain the peaks and power wash and restain the gazebo for $2400.

The Board authorized Supervisor Moy to sign an agreement with Daniel Jones to mow and trim the Glidden Road pioneer cemetery for the 2014 season at a rate of $400.

The Board adopted a resolution setting standard work days for appointed and elected officials in the NYS Retirement System.

Erin Anhier submitted a portion of the Conditions Report on the Hillside Memorial Chapel as prepared by Paul Minor, Architect in December 2012 along with an estimation of restoration costs in three phases. Erin explained that as the chapel is listed on the National and State Registers of Historical Places, it qualifies for grant funding application. There are currently two that Erin would like to apply for: the Rochester Community Foundation for $25,000 and the CFA through Parks, Recreation and Historical Places $500,000 grant is a 50/50, meaning that the Town will need to put in the same amount of funding that is received from the grant. Discussion was held regarding restoration: Phase One - replacement of the roof with slate as originally done at $118,500. Phase Two - Windows, exterior painting, masonry repairs, grouting and hydro-blasting south and west surfaces at $68,530. Phase Three - Refurbish and cover casket lift, interior doors, painting, lighting, electric service, lighting and front step railings at $26,975. Total Project was estimated at $214,005. At 50%, over $100,000 will be needed. Discussion was held regarding the money from the Cemetery Association that is being held for Cemetery maintenance; Historical Society will kick-off a fundraising campaign and Erin reported confidence that $10,000 can be raised. June 9th is application deadline; Erin doubted the state would grant funding for interior work if the roof is leaking. It was reported that Harold Piedimonte and Kevin Johnson have both done temporary roof repair on the chapel. The lead study and architectural study was done with the committee money from Assemblyman Hawley. Supervisor reasoned that every year the board renews the BAN for water debt service and truck purchase; it would cost the Town $6000/year for ten years at less than 2% interest to borrow $53,000 for a 50/50 grant. Board members in agreement that Erin apply for the full amount of the project. Supervisor Moy gave board members a 'Climate Smart Community' pledge from Greg Selke and asked them to review it for the June meeting.
